Statement of Significance and List of Character Defining Features

Description of Property

53 Lambs Lane is located on the east side of Lambs Lane in the Town of Bowmanville. The property contains a one-storey building constructed between 1946 and 1947 as part of Bowmanville's Veteran's Housing Initiative.

Physical/Design Value

53 Lambs Lane has design value as a representative example of purpose-built post-WWII Victory Housing. Typical of this type of building is its one-storey construction, rectangular plan, asymmetrical massing and side gable roof. The subject building features a simple and compact form with wood frame construction clad with horizontal siding. 53 Lambs Lane showcases unadorned rectangular window openings and a simple, single, asymmetrically placed entranceway opening. The subject building does not feature any ornamentation or highly decorative features, which is typical of the Victory House style. An exterior brick chimney is found on all houses, and the front gable peak appears to be a common design element found on Victory Houses in the surrounding streetscape and within the Victory Housing neighbourhood.

Historical/Associative Value

53 Lambs Lane has historical value for its association with the Veteran's Housing initiative spearheaded by the local municipal government as a result of the Veteran's Land Act. The Victory Housing subdivision containing 53 Lambs Lane was originally part of Lots 11 and 12 in Plan H50080 (Simpson & Lockhart Plan), which was purchased by the Town of Bowmanville along with adjacent Plan 595 in 1946 to be the site of Bowmanville's veteran's housing subdivision. The Town of Bowmanville Council allocated funds to construct the subdivision, likely marking the first time the town acted as a builder. The subject property is one of four uniform lots established along the east side of Lambs Lane, and one of 18 lots undertaken as part of the Town of Bowmanville's Veteran's Housing initiative. Throughout Ontario and Canada, the planned and deliberate construction associated with these kinds of Veteran's Housing initiatives was the result of legislation like the Veteran's Land Act. The Veteran's Land Act sought to provide affordable housing to returning veterans and personnel associated with domestic war industries in Canada. 53 Lambs Lane was constructed between 1946 and 1947 by the Toronto Construction Company. As intended by the Veteran's Housing initiative, the first occupant of 53 Lambs Lane was Edward A. Baker, who purchased the property in 1947.

Edward Allan Baker was born on December 28, 1918, and enlisted from Clarke Township as a Private and was stationed in England, although his role in the war is unknown. (Canadian Statesman 1945b; 1946a). Edward Baker paid a deposit of $100 on August 27, 1947, for the subject property. Edward, who went by Allan, remained in the Canadian Army and was stationed in both England and at Camp Borden after the end of World War II, where he served in the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineering (RCEME) corps. Edward Baker died on June 17, 2010, in Haliburton, Ontario.

53 Lambs Lane has historical value for its association with Camp 30, a Prisoner of War Camp for German military officers that was located at the intersection of Concession Street East and Lambs Road. Camp 30 was originally a Boys' Training School, which was also built on part of the Jury estate in the 1920s but expropriated by the federal government in 1941 for the war effort. Camp 30 was declared excess property after the cessation of World War II. At that time, the Town of Bowmanville purchased the buildings and due to a post-war material shortage, materials were taken from Camp 30 and used to construct the 18 Victory Houses. Additionally, the cost of installing municipal services in the neighbourhood was also supported by the sale of salvaged Camp 30 materials not required for the Victory Housing project.

Contextual Value

53 Lambs Lane is important in supporting the character of the Victory Housing neighbourhood located along Veterans Avenue, Second Street, and Lambs Lane. As part of the Veteran's Housing initiative begun by the Town of Bowmanville, simple one-storey Victory Houses were constructed on 18 uniform lots in the planned community. All 18 buildings followed a uniform and rhythmic layout and design achieved through setback, massing, and height, which has created a cohesive and uniform streetscape. The subject property exhibits setback, height, and massing consistent with the character of the area. 53 Lambs Lane and the surrounding 17 houses located in the neighbourhood, support one of the best examples of a Victory Housing neighbourhood in the Municipality of Clarington.
